Virginia Tech Wireless Local Area Network Service Disclosure
Virginia Tech's Wireless Local Area Network service is administered and maintained by Network Infrastructure & Services (NI&S), a department of the University.

Terms of Service
To order and use wireless LAN service, you must have an active Personal Identification (PID). Your Virginia Tech PID is the primary online ID used to access an array of Virginia Tech information technology services.
YOU ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR MAINTAINING THE CONFIDENTIALITY OF YOUR PID PASSWORD. SHARING OF YOUR PASSWORD IS A VIOLATION OF THE UNIVERSITY ACCEPTABLE USE POLICY OF INFORMATION SYSTEMS AND IS SUBJECT TO PENALTIES RELATED TO VIOLATIONS OF THE POLICY.

Activation and use of wireless LAN service obligates you to comply with all rules and regulations regarding tele-communications policy at Virginia Tech. These can be found at http://www.vt.edu/about/acceptable-use.html.

You may deactivate your wireless LAN service at any time by contacting NI&S Customer Support Services at 540-231-6460.

If your wireless network device interferes in any way with the university's network or other university radio frequency services, your access will be subject to immediate deactivation until the interference is completely resolved. If you have read the Virginia Tech Wireless Local Area Network Service Disclosure and agree to rules governing your use of the service, please sign on the line below.

Signature acknowledges that user will abide by Terms of Service above.
